Oahu Golfers Tryout
Wailua Club's Course

Francis Brown, who holds the amateur championship of the islands and Alec Bell, the Pro. at the Oahu Country Club, arrived for a two day stay last Friday morning on the Claudine.

They were met at the boat by James Spalding, who acted as their chief host and after a breakfast at the Valley House, they immediately left for Wailua to try out the local course.

A foursome was made up, Jim Spalding and Francis Brown, playing Alec Bell and Ed Hunter of the Audit Company, who was on Kauai. Spalding and Brown won the first nine holes, three up and two to go.

For the first nine holes, Brown turned in a 40 and Spalding a 41. Bell's score was 43 while Hunter's was 44.

Spalding took the first hole starting everyone by sinking a long putt for a 3. He had driven over the railroad track a little off line to the right on his first, and his second put him on the edge of the green. Brown drove straight for the hole with a good long drive near the track. It took him two to get on however and he also sank a long putt for a four. Hunter was well on near the pin in three and also got a four while it took Bell a five as he overshot a mashie on his second shot after driving off well.

Bell took the second with a 3, while all the others took a four. No one was on the green in one, although everyone made distance enough in their drives. A good approach dead to the pin gave Bell his 3.

Bell and Brown halved the third with a 4, although Brown had an opportunity to sink a long putt for a 3, as he was on in 2. Hunter and Spalding each took 5s. Neither Bell nor Brown drove an exceptionally long ball on this hole, but they played their second shots perfectly. Brown getting on the green and Bell getting just outside a wire on the far side.

Four 4s were the result of the fourth. Hunter got the best position on the drive as both Bell and Brown drove even with the green, but went too far to the right and landed in the sand. Brown landing near the top of the steps, while Bell's was not so high. It took both men two more to get on the green and one to sink. Both Spalding and Hunter were on in two but both took two putts.

The new fifth was a Waterloo for the visiting players, all three taking a 6 while Jim Spalding took a 5. Spalding drove his ball just to the edge of the green. Bell over estimated the distance and landed on the beach behind the green. Brown also over-shot but was just off the green. Hunter hooked into the rough behind the screen on the top left. Bell had difficulty on the green as his ball was sunk into the soft sand. He got on in three however, but was on the side of the green nearest the tee and it took him three putts to get up the hill and into the cup. Brown also had trouble getting on the green and also took three putts. Spalding's rolled off the green and down into the sand to the right and it took him three to get down. Hunter had the same trouble and it took him three putts to sink.

Brown won the sixth with a 4. He drove down into the valley with his first and was on the green in two. Two putts put him down. Bell took a good sixth after driving well but a bad lie gave him trouble and his second was a short shot while his third was just short of the green. Spalding was on in three and took two putts to sink. Hunter got a nice drive and on his second drove into the rough to the left of the fairway.

Spalding won the seventh with a 4. Brown using his mid iron drove just below the green but it took him two to get on. Bell drove over the hill to the fourth fairway and his second overshot the green. It took him three more to sink. Spalding drove nearly as far as Brown and was on in two. Two putts put him down but he had a good chance for a 3. Hunter hooked his drive and his second was in the sand above the green, and it took him four to sink.

Hunter and Brown halved the eighth, both getting 4s. Brown drove not quite to the green and a little to the left, he was on in two and two putts put him down. Hunter sliced near the lahala tree on his drive, but a nice approach put him on and down in four. Spalding hooked his drive and it took him three more to get on. A missed putt caused him a six. Bell drove to the right of the two peaks and it took two more to get on. Two putts put him down.

Brown drove to the railroad track just to the left of the fairway. He underestimated the distance to the green on his second and it took him three to get on. Two putts sunk. Spalding got a nice drive but was still off the green on three. An approach dead to the pin on his fourth gave him a 5. Bell was slightly past the green in three and was down in five.

Hunter took four to get on the green and then two putts to sink. On the second round Brown took a 40, while Bell repeated with a 43, and Hunter followed with a 44. Jim Spalding lost his ball on the sixth and did not finish the hole.

FRANCIS BROWN SETS
WAILUA COURSE RECORD

Francis Brown set the course record at Wailua for nine and eighteen holes when he turned in a 36 for nine holes and a 76 for eighteen. Alec Bell was not far behind him when he handed in a 38 for nine holes and a 77 for eighteen. As both these scores were made playing the new fifth there is no doubt that they will stand for some time.

Alec. Bell Makes
Recommendations
for Wailua Course

After playing over the Wailua course, both Alec Bell and Francis Brown expressed themselves favorably as to the possibilities of the local links.

Francis Brown stated that he believed that it could be made into one of the sportiest nine hole courses that he has seen, and Bell was of the same opinion, and at the same time made several recommendations to James Spalding as to the changes that should be made.

His first recommendation was to change the position of the cup on the new fifth. He said that the cup should be placed where the fence posts are now on the side near the tee. Placing the cup on the table made the hole too difficult. He also said that the hole on the side nearest the sixth tee should be filled and that the green should be built so as to completely fill this space.

On the seventh hole he said that the green should be brought back into the space just below the old tee for the fifth hole, where there would be a slight upward slope on the side away from the tee.

Bell commented particularly on the present seventh green and said that the construction was wrong from two standpoints. First, the green was small and there was nothing in the construction to permit a player to pitch his ball on the green with any assurance that it would stay there, and the second was that the ground around the green being all sand penalized a bold player, who would play right up to the green and perhaps roll off the green.

By moving the green to the spot that he recommended these above faults would be removed and at the same time there would be a penalty in the form of rough ground behind the green as a penalty overshooting.

On the first hole he recommended that it be lengthened by placing the green back of the present green just below the second tee. He also suggested the moving of the first tee back near the gate so as to add about 100 yards on to the hole.

The second tee would then be moved makai as well as away from the second green, making this hole a full iron shot. Part of the hill behind the second hole should also be put in better shape according, so that a long shot rolling across the green would not put the player into trouble.

Among other recommendations by Bell were: first penalizing one stroke to lift out of the railroad track when playing either the first or ninth hole. Second moving the ninth green nearer the track so as to take it off the line of the first hole when the hole is lengthened. Third sodding the makai side of the sand hill on the sixth so that a long drive would roll down the fairway and not stay in a hole in

KAUAI HIGH WINS FROM ST. LOUIS GLEE CLUB BY THE SCORE OF 7 TO 0

Kauai high school defeated the St. Louis Glee Club football team on Christmas day at Lihue Park by the score of 7 to 0, after one of the most exciting games of the year.

Kauai scored in the second quarter by a wide end run by Paul Rice who was downed on the 1 yard line putting them in position to score. Montgomery then bucked it over. On the try for the one point Montgomery drop-kicked neatly between the posts.

The St. Louis gang opened up in the last quarter with short forward passes and carried the ball about 50 yards down the field to Kauai's 8 yard line and they had four downs to make the touchdown in, but the end of the quarter came before they could put the ball over.

The high school team was unusually successful with forward passes. Bill Moragne snagging two almost impossible catches out of the air. The school played better ball against St. Louis than they did against the Vets on Thanksgiving day.

St. Louis was handicapped by the absence of backfield men and they were forced to use their other linemen or green players in the backfield and this may account why Kauai high was able to get away with their passes so well. Only three of the St. Louis first team played with the Glee Club.

Jack Hjorth and Waldemar Christian were in the St. Louis lineup, while Mori Lydgate and Ernst Wedemeyer played with the high school.

The game was a remarkably clean one, both sides playing exceptionally good football. The St. Louis boys are to be congratulated on their sportsmanship, as at no time in the game did they dispute a decision of any of the officials, which is exceedingly unusual with a visiting team. The only penalties called in the game were for offside.

that sand as at present. Fourth, to not increase the number of holes to eighteen but to improve the present nine and put them in first class shape.
